enBio Named To San Fernando Valley Business Journal's "Fastest Growing Private Businesses" List

BURBANK, CA — November 21, 2011 — enBio Corporation, the Southern California-based biomedical equipment management and maintenance company, announced today it has been recognized by the San Fernando Valley Business Journal on its annual list of fastest growing private businesses. The ranking includes businesses with appreciable year-over-year revenue increases in calendar years 2008, 2009 and 2010.

"enBio is honored to be mentioned along side some truly outstanding Valley-based companies," said Arthur Zenian, enBio's Founder and Chief Executive Officer. "Even in difficult economic times, enBio's growth highlights our continuing ability to provide innovative business solutions that resonate with our healthcare partners."

enBio has emerged as an industry leader in biomedical technology management. The firm's skilled technicians help healthcare professionals maximize the value of their biomedical assets through comprehensive equipment maintenance programs, equipment sales and rentals, parts procurement and biomedical staffing solutions.
